

Contents

Foreword by William R. Polk ix

Preface xv

1. Prelude: Dream and Reality 1

- Paradise Lost: The Countryside 1
- Mud Brick: Sole Hope for Rural Reconstruction 4
- Mud for Roofing, Bahtim: Trial and Error 5
- Nubia: Survival of an Ancient Technique of Vaulting 6
- The Nubian Masons at Work: First Successes 8
- Ezbet el Basry: Iblis in Ambush 12
- A Tomb Robbery Begets a Pilot Housing Project 14
- Birth of New Gourna: The Site 17

2. Chorale: Man, Society, and Technology 19

- Architectural Character 19
- The Process of Decision Making 21
- Tradition's Role 24
- Saving Individuality in the Village 27
- Traditional Village Crafts Restored 35
- The Use of Mud Brick an Economic Necessity 37
- Reestablishment of the "Trinity": Owner, Architect, and Craftsman 39
- Vernacular Architecture of Old Gourna 41
- Change with Constancy 43
- Climate and Architecture 45
- Orientation of Houses Determined Partly by Sun, Partly by Wind 48
- The Malkaf, or Wind Catch 49
- Society and Architecture 50
- Kinship Structure and Local Custom 54
- Socioeconomic Considerations 59

Rural Crafts in Gournā 62
The Plan of New Gournā 69
Public Service Buildings and Amenities 73
The Peasant House 91
Combating Bilharzia 104
Gournā, A Pilot Project 113
The Cooperative System 119
In-Service Training 121
Gournā Not an End in Itself 127
A Stillborn Experiment, Mit-el-Nasara 130
National Program for Rural Reconstruction 134

3. Fugue: Architect, Peasant, and Bureaucrat 149

First Season: 1945-46 150
Second Season: 1946-47 163
Third Season: 1947-48 171

4. Finale: Gournā Dormant 183

An Architect in Search of a Patron 183
Slander Continues 187
Gournā Revisited 192
Gournā in Nabaroh 193

Appendix I: Cost Analysis of Labor and Rates of the Execution of Works 197

Cost Analysis of Materials and Labor Used in Gournā Village 198
Cost of Stone 201
Sand 205
Construction 205

Appendix II: In-Service Training 214

Appendix III: Organization of Work 216

Appendix IV: Foundations 221

Foreword

Appendix V: Brick Making 224

Extract from Colonel Debes's Experiments 225

Extract from Dr. Mustapha Yehya's Experiments 226

Appendix VI: Cost Analysis at the Moment when the Project Was Handed Over to the Ministry of Social Affairs 231

Glossary 232

Illustrations following page 233