

Contents

Foreword by HRH The Prince of Wales	vii
Preface – New millennium: new issues	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Dedication	xi
1 Architecture: does it matter?	1
2 Architecture with health-giving intent	9
3 Architecture as art	31
4 Building for planetary health	37
5 Building for human health	57
6 Qualities and quantities	71
7 Conversation or conflict?	83
8 Space for living in	105
9 Design as a listening process: creating places with users and builders	143
10 Ensouling buildings	159
11 Building as a health-giving process	185

12	Healing silence: the architecture of peace	203
13	Children and environment	217
14	The urban environment	229
	Sustainable values,	229
	urban pressures	229
	Urban life: urban needs	231
	Cities as places	238
	Cities for people	248
	Cities for life	254
	Eco-cities: Utopia or practicality?	274
15	Building for tomorrow	283
	List of photographs and project-related drawings	299
	Index	305